PUBLIC PARTICIPATION

Glen Whitney spoke about planning for the IG Program. (He brought a hand-out for all board members and district administrators.) He commented that each student needs to be challenged in order to fully develop educationally and that the program should be able to meet this need – Mr. Whitney further pointed out that four (4) key aspects need to be addressed in order for success:

1. District needs to build trust in the program.
2. Plans of program should be presented to public (educational goals need to be clearly laid out in advance).
3. How program will be assessed.
4. How district will financially commit to the program.

Mr. Carasiti asked Deborah Blair to address this issue.

Deborah Blair commented that the district is working on areas of curriculum and building the capacities in the classrooms and that the district is striving to do an even better job. Ms. Blair also pointed out that children excel at different levels and areas. She added that the district had consulted with a math professor from the University of Connecticut to work with the district's teachers in regards to the IG Program.

David Miklos commented that there is an ambivalence towards the IG Program and that the district has been working on it for approximately 2½ years. He added that the district has to be very serious about this -- instead of studying the problem, a plan is needed within the next several months through the Teaching and Learning Committee.

Mr. Carasiti commented that this plan will be explored and reviewed by the Board of Education and will move forward.

John Diviney commented that the district continues the program largely because it is the program that we have. We still haven't seen a specific, detailed plan. It is more difficult because we need a specific plan. We know that it will cost more. This needs to be done quickly.

Cheryl Pedisich commented that plans are in place and that it will take a .5 teacher, which will cost approximately $35,000, along with materials. Deborah Blair pointed out that children in the program will remain in the program.

Dr. Fourman requested a plan within the week from Deborah Blair and Cheryl Pedisich. Mr. Carasiti asked Dr. Fourman for a week's time.

Mr. Carasiti added that he was most pleased with the efforts of Assemblyman Engelbright and Senator Flanagan but that taxpayers need to let the politicians know that we can't survive with the financing we receive from the state of New York. Mr. Carasiti encouraged residents to pick up and sign a letter located in the back of the room. Mr. Carasiti pointed out that the Governor continues to short-change Long Island.
